BIODYNAMIC & ORGANIC WINES

Biodynamic wine is produced from grapes grown through biodynamic principles. This is when the land is seen as part of the planet and solar system, and the vineyard isn't seen as an isolated piece of land, engineered for the sole purpose of growing grapes.

Organic wine definition varies from county to country however, it generally referse to the process of organically farming grapes which, excludes the use of chemical fertilisers, pesticides, fungicides or herbicides. Wine produced in european countries allows for the use of additional sulfites, which makes for longer lasting wine.
