PRIVATE DINING AND EVENTS

ABOUT THE HIND'S HEAD

A picturesque village made famous by its unusually principled vicar, Bray is about as British as it gets - and nowhere more so than The Hind's Head, which has been serving residents and all manner of visitors since the 1400s when it was first established as a hunting lodge and coaching inn.

Our food reflects this illustrious and highly individual lineage, offering versions of classic British dishes - the famous and the unjustly forgotten - all cooked with exceptional technical dexterity and outstanding culinary imagination. With an impeccable drinks list to match, we offer a truly remarkable setting for events in our private dining area, The Vicar's Room, perfect for every occasion.

THE FOOD

In The Hind's Head we serve stunning food showcasing the skill, precision, flavour and originality you'd expect from Heston Blumenthal and his team of accomplished chefs.

Our curated menus change seasonally to explore and celebrate the best of traditional British cooking and to reflect our chefs' ongoing creative reinvigoration of classic dishes.

THE TEAM

Our Restaurant Manager, Nick Broderick, and Head Chef, János Veres, lead exceptional teams of front of house and kitchen staff at The Hind's Head, working with utmost passion and meticulousness to ensure that your experience is the best it can be.

THE VICAR'S ROOM

The Vicar's Room captures the character of its historical setting, making it a truly atmospheric place for a business or private event without parallel. A dining table hewn from a single trunk of oak sits within the room amid wood-beamed walls, illuminated by a pair of parlour chandeliers depicting the likeness of Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth.

It pays homage to Simon Aleyn, the infamous Vicar of Bray during a time that the country was in the throes of shifting between the Catholic and Christian religion. He was renowned for having ever-changeable religious beliefs – always dependant on the reigning monarch at the time - to quench his insatiable desire to retain the Vicar of Bray title.
