THE NEWEST ESTABLISHED HOT SPOT IN SOHO

Located on the site of the iconic Marquee Club, Conran's Mezzo and Cuban favourite Floridita, 100 Wardour St. draws inspiration from its edgy Soho location. Renamed 100 Wardour St., with innovative décor and a playful feel, suited to the bohemian local crowd. Soho, the original Shoreditch, is the heart of London's film, music and entertainment district and 100 Wardour St. artfully plays to the lifestyle of its creative clientele around the clock.

Welcoming lazy breakfasts, light lunches and flexible working spaces are the order of the day in the upstairs Lounge. Then, as evening falls, 100 Wardour St. morphs into a vibrant evening dining & destination cocktail bar with the downstairs Club offering live music and DJs until the small hours.

BAR & LOUNGE

Situated at the entrance level of one of the most celebrated entertainment and live music districts in the world; The Lounge at 100 Wardour St. breathes new life into an iconic London address. The grand feature bar acts as a natural focal point for those large events. For group dining the surrounding space offers secluded booths and cosy corners for a sense of privacy whilst soaking up the buzz.

THE CLUB

Most recently the building has been the home of Latin American club Floridita. In its previous life as the Marquee Club, headline acts included Rod Stewart, The Rolling Stones and Fleetwood Mac, who made their London debut performances at the club.

It transforms into a late night cocktail bar, dining and club with old school Soho sauciness and sassiness. Cosy booths, intimate corners and bottle service all add to the glamour, whilst guests dine to live music with big name acts and innovative late night DJs Tuesday to Saturday.
